

Director of the Institute of Agricultural Economics
Belgrade Republic of Serbia
Dr. Drago Cvijanovic

Dear Dr. Drago Cvijanovic!

I would like to extend cordial congratulations on the occasion of 65-anniversary of the Institute of Agricultural Economics Belgrade!

For several decades the Institute of Agricultural Economics Belgrade is considered as one of the greatest centers of science, education and innovation, a recognized leader in agricultural science and research in Serbia.

Throughout history, the Institute combines high level of fundamental and applied research, active implementation of innovations, and development of cooperation with business community.

The scientists of the Institute benefited fundamental and applied research. Their recommendations and projects are well-know not only in Serbia and the Danube region, but also across Europe.

I join all the kind words addressed to you on the day of anniversary. I wish you and the Institute staff continued success, prosperity, ambitious projects, health and new achievements!
