

Name Surname: Anton Puškarić

Date of birth: September 24th, 1979.

Title: Doctor of Agricultural Sciences

Scientific title: Research Associate

E-mail: anton.puskaric@gmail.com

Education

Graduated in 2004 from the Faculty of Agriculture in Novi Sad, Department of Field and Vegetable Crops, thus gaining a title of Graduate Agricultural Engineer. In the same year got enrolled in a master's degree program at the Department of Agricultural Food Marketing. Defended PhD dissertation entitled "Vegetable Exports in the Function of Vegetable Production Development in the Republic of Serbia" in 2012, thus gaining an academic title of Doctor of Agricultural Sciences, with specific scientific field of Market and Marketing of Agricultural-Food Products.

Professional experience

Employed at the Institute for Agricultural Economics, Belgrade, in the scientific-research sector, since 2008. Was a member of the research team on several national projects. Also engaged in the development of investment programs and business plans in the segment of market potential research, monitoring and analysis of macroeconomic trends, conducting various types of market research, as well as the development and implementation of strategies for development of municipalities in the country and abroad.

Scientific and professional activity

In the PhD thesis, monographs and papers, dealt with the topics of market and marketing of agricultural-food products. As an author/co-author, published over 90 bibliographic items cited in domestic and foreign professional literature.